

Top 5 Tips

for Home Educators

#1 Embrace the freedom of home education and resist the urge to do public school at home.

#2 Home education should be more personalized meaning you can focus on subjects and topics that interest them and the values that you want to teach them.

#3 Home education should be more individualized, so you can teach in a way that works best for your child based on their learning style, strengths, and weaknesses.

#4 You don't have to do normal school hours. You could even homeschool in the evenings after work and on the weekends if necessary.
