Language Arts | Math | Upper Elementary & Middle School

Hello Parents and Learners! I am Ms. Williams and I'm so excited for the opportunity to meet and work with you. I graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Communicative Disorders, Speech Pathology from the University of Missouri-Columbia (Go MIZZOU!). I've taught virtual and in-person classes serving homeschoolers for the past five years, and I've enjoyed every moment of it. It's a thrill teaching elementary and middle school grammar, composition, writing, math, and computer applications classes. I am a homeschool mom of nine years and a forever teacher since instructional education is my passion. I always incorporate games and engaging activities into each lesson to promote fun while learning. I'm intentional about ensuring that diverse literature and leaders are prominent in every lesson I teach. My highlight of teaching is observing students as they make concept connections, express "aha" moments, and laugh at my silliness. My goal is to build rapport with each learner while creating a welcoming, comfortable, and safe environment. When I'm not teaching (or learning), I enjoy deal shopping for our family and spending time playing board games with my husband and our two awesome children: our 20-year-old daughter and 13-year-old son. They are often my mock students to try out new game ideas. I look forward to having your child in my classroom.
